Zine making workshop

During the February half-term, The Story Museum organised a free Zine making workshop for young people aged 11+.

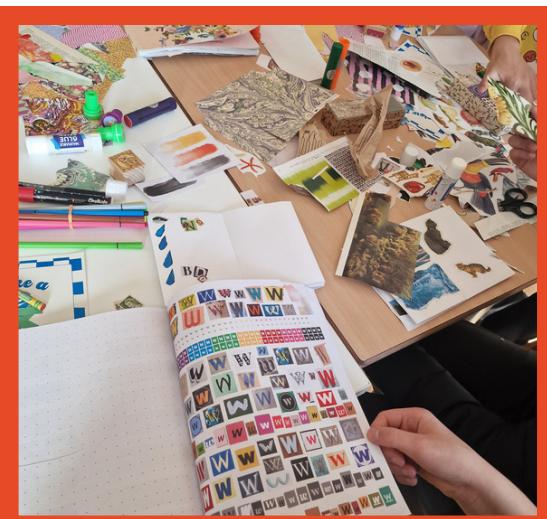

Thanks to funding from Arts Council England and the Heritage Lottery Fund, young people could learn how to make Zines (a small handmade magazine that showcases your ideas, passions and interests).

Artist Ioana Simion, Founder of Artizine UK, led the session and the young people designed their own Zines.

We will be welcoming TSM and Ioana back to our youth clubs for a five week project in April, where we will also be visiting the museum!

Free community meal

Funded by
UK Government

Delivered by
THE NATIONAL LOTTERY
COMMUNITY FUND

On Thursday 15th February, over 140 people came together to eat, be creative, and have fun, at Rose Hill Community centre.

Thanks to funding from the Government's Community Organisations Cost of Living Fund, delivered by The National Lottery Community Fund, we were able to run a free community lunch for everyone to enjoy in half-term.

Children and young people enjoyed the climbing wall, whilst others explored community stalls, took away free clothes, painted nature designs on our giant mural and had a go at our healthy food activities.

It was great to see so many people sitting together, talking, finding out about local groups and organisations and having fun!

Feedback:

“Really good for community spirit.”

“Was amazing, very tasty food, very happy.”

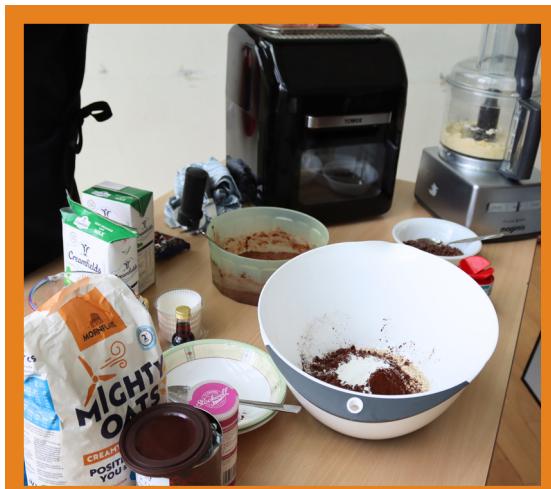

“Wonderful event! My kids especially enjoyed the climbing wall, second hand clothes, the heat pump game, the fruit and veg table, and of course the lunch which they gobbled up.

Thank you for hosting a great community event!”

“Brilliant event, lots of local people, good to catch up.”

RHJYC staff feedback:

“The big community lunch was a huge success. The atmosphere was great and residents from Rose Hill and neighbouring areas felt comfortable with engaging in activities on offer and finding out about service providers in their community.”

“The free lunch was hugely successful and those that I spoke to were really appreciative and it was great seeing people from the community sitting down together and relaxing over a healthy lunch.”

“A happy, busy event & everyone seemed to be well engaged with the food & activities.”

“Many of the parents that I spoke to were interested in learning about healthy recipes for their children containing no refined sugar nor highly processed ingredients.”

Professionals/organisations who had a stall reported that the level of engagement was really positive and that they were able to explain the services they offer to residents and this led to some real positive conversations.”

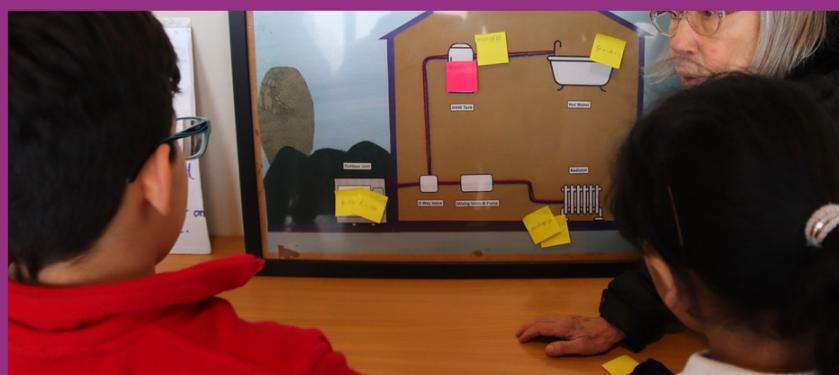

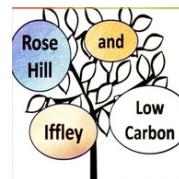

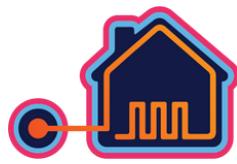

Clean Heat Streets activities

The Clean Heat Streets team organised engaging energy saving activities for children at JYC on Thursday 1st February!

They played 'Label the Heat Pump' where the children had to locate the heat pump on the 2D image whilst blindfolded, to win a reward.

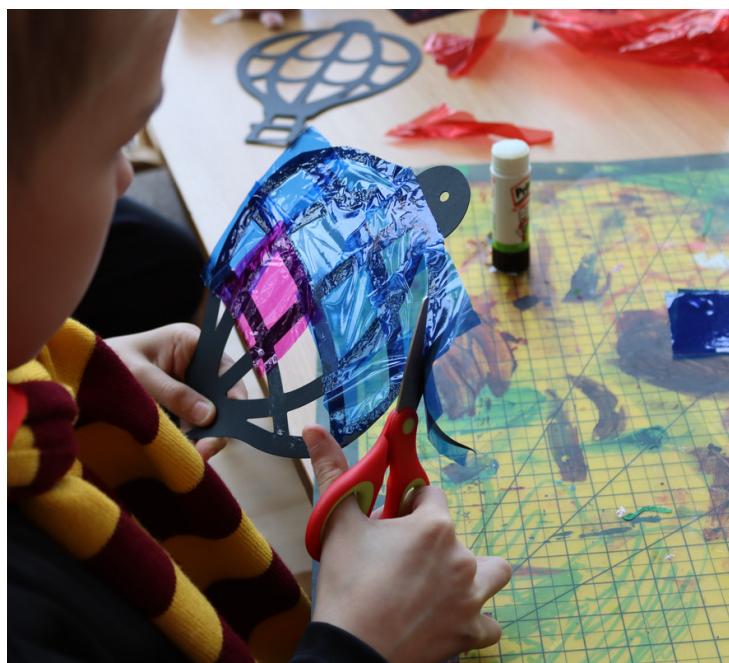

They also enjoyed creating imaginative draft-excluding monsters with an abundance of socks, stuffing, glue, and embellishments, along with a bit of sewing.

The children also had the opportunity to explore the eco-house and craft plasticene figures to inhabit it. The team brought along a 3D model house featuring solar panels and other environmentally friendly technologies.

Activities & workshops for young people

Thanks to this funding, we were able to create a new ‘safe spaces’ youth group, giving young people another opportunity to connect with youth workers in their community.

When asked what spaces were safe for them, they said that without the youth clubs they would just “walk around in the dark” at night and they feel safe at our youth clubs with “people they can trust”.

They said that they feel “respected at our youth clubs”, in the community centre, and by our staff.

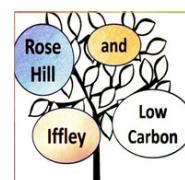

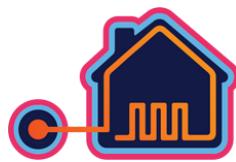

When asked how important their safe space is to them, young people commented that they can be, “vulnerable and offload to the extent I want”, and be a place where they can “calm down”.

Activities & workshops for young people

The Clean Heat streets team visited our senior girls club in March and delivered some more energy saving activities!

We made sock draught excluders, decorated the energy saving house and played the blindfold game!

Naturehood activities

The Naturehood team have joined our youth club sessions to deliver nature based activities!

We have visited our local nature reserve to learn about habitats, animals and pond dipping.

We have also visited our allotment to plant our own hedge with an assortment of small trees.

The children also designed their own LEGO landscapes and leaf art rubbings!

We look forward to the next few months, and building our own pond at our allotment!

Food support for families
